Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@Alliance4ClinEd @MedEdChat @UNMCCOM T1 #meded For me it was a bit jarring to deal with a generation of people who perceive that everything can be negotiated.

Dr. A.J. Kleinheksel @AJKleinhex8 hours ago

T1 I need more than 240 characters for that list. But the most challenging experiences I've had have been in designing authentic simulations (e.g., virtual patients). #meded

Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

@TLMedEd T1. #meded The range of contexts in which generational differences can play out, especially the clinical setting.

Marty Muntz @mmteacherdoc8 hours ago

@AJKleinhex My list like this is too long for 280 characters. I feel like I'm giving out tv & movie assignments pretty frequently. #MedEd

Larry Hurtubise @hur2buzy8 hours ago

Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

@AJKleinhex T1 #meded Inconceivable!

Marty Muntz @mmteacherdoc8 hours ago

@GLBDallaghan Agreed - I was critical but less vocal. Less likely to challenge experts maybe? #MedEd

MedEd Chat @MedEdChat8 hours ago

@AJKleinhex T1 #meded How so? Are the students more critical of simulations they feel are not authentic?

Robert V. Hill @RVHillPhD8 hours ago

Alliance4ClinEd @Alliance4ClinEd8 hours ago

@anna_cianciolo @TLMedEd T1 #meded Do you think this range may somehow impact patient care in a negative way?

Elizabeth Gundersen @Top_Gundersen8 hours ago

T1 As a educational researcher I've also had to balance most learners' expectations to have input on their curriculum with the fact that they are survey fatigued. #creativedatacollection #MedEd

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@AJKleinhex T1 #meded And yet if you excluded them from providing input they would be unhappy. Sometimes it feels like a losing proposition.

Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

@Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd T1. #meded There seems to be less confidence reading feedback that isn't an explicit evaluative judgement from someone else.

Dr. A.J. Kleinheksel @AJKleinhex8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T1 You compromise your level of immersion if the simulated patient isn't realistic to the participants. So you can't have them listening to MC Hammer a walkman. #meded

Dr. A.J. Kleinheksel @AJKleinhex8 hours ago

@GLBDallaghan Exactly. The balancing feels a lot like a high wire act. #meded

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@anna_cianciolo @Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd T1 #meded Doesn't that fall on our shoulders as educators to ensure they understand the purpose of the feedback? Perhaps it is meant to be evaluative judgment....but we often times fail to point out the formative feedback clearly enough

@GLBDallaghan @anna_cianciolo @Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd Gary, I think this goes to being transparent with our learners! This is ever so more important in the age of #CBME. Are we being clear about why we as the educator are teaching in some way or offering feedback in some way? #MedEd

Topic 2: What successes have you had with bridging the generation gap? #meded

Hell yes, I do care @nancyeadams8 hours ago
@MedEdChat T1: #meded gen gap=students who are used to receiving push notifications for everything; don't want to look in syllabus for due dates

Elizabeth Gundersen @Top_Gundersen8 hours ago
@GLBDallaghan @anna_cianciolo @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd My school has "feedback mentors" for the M3 students. We meet with students every quarter and review the feedback they've gotten during their clerkships. It adds an extra layer of reflection that I think is helpful. #meded

Kurt Gilliland, PhD @kogillil8 hours ago
@MedEdChat If it has a Latin name, then it is real. #meded

Marty Muntz @mmteacherdoc8 hours ago
@GLBDallaghan @anna_cianciolo @Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd There's certainly a skill to preparing for, seeking, digesting, and responding productively to feedback - and I don't think we're doing a good job teaching this to our students in most cases. #MedEd

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago
@kristinadzara @anna_cianciolo @Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd T1 #meded Exactly. One thing I learned from editing the book is that communication is crucial and transparency the law of the land.

Robert V. Hill @RVHillPhD8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T1: I find the gap often manifests in the day-to-day use of technology—students use computers in different ways from older faculty. #meded

Melanie Lybarger @MelanieLybarger8 hours ago

RT @hur2buzy: @Alliance4ClinEd #meded in the past silence meant your doing ok. Now learners want feedback

Dr. A.J. Kleinheksel @AJKleinhex8 hours ago

@kogillil @MedEdChat I've designed computer-based virtual patients, high fidelity mannequin cases, and SP assessments. I think they all have their place. But in my experience students prefer well-designed, efficiently-run, and accurately-assessed sims regardless of the modality. #meded

Anna Cianciolo @anna_cianciolo8 hours ago

@GLBDallaghan @Top_Gundersen @hur2buzy @Alliance4ClinEd T1. #meded Sure, but feedback also comes from the environment if you understand how to see it. I think the non-stop helicoptering and testing of young people guts their impression that worthwhile information comes from the world around them.

Alliance4ClinEd @Alliance4ClinEd8 hours ago
