Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@Alliance4ClinEd T1 #mededchat This is something new for me having worked in #meded for so long. It seems fairly intuitive that if one part of the body is ailing it will impact the rest of the system.

Paul Haidet @myheroistrane8 hours ago

Many health outcomes (e.g., diabetes control, etc) impacted by oral health. Clinical effectiveness requires attention to it. #mededchat

@myheroistrane T1 #mededchat Agreed. Here's a looming question.....how does one fit this into an already packed curriculum? Clerkships would argue they have no time either.

Paul Haidet @myheroistrane8 hours ago

T1: Oral health provides a good context to explore social determinants of health and healthcare disparities, too. #mededchat<https://t.co/CwWUz0enVC>

Stephanie Gill @sgillmd8 hours ago

@myheroistrane Absolutely! For instance, patients with cirrhosis who have regular dental cleanings are less likely to suffer the cognitive effects of their disease. Primary care docs need to know this! #mededchat <https://t.co/718NHvozaD>

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

T1 #mededchat many people don't have a regular dentist - primary care sees a lot of dental/oral health issues but may not have training

Alliance4ClinEd @Alliance4ClinEd8 hours ago

@amyshawmd T1 #mededchat Would it make sense then to have a medical/dental clinic structure for primary care and pediatric clinics?

Stephanie Gill @sgillmd8 hours ago

@Alliance4ClinEd @myheroistrane T1 At PSCOM we are identifying the oral health touch points in our existing curriculum as a way to engage our learners to consider oral health. For example, do an oral exam on a patient and discuss oral health Soc determinants of health with preceptor. #mededchat

Dr. Sateesh Arja @ArjaSateesh8 hours ago

RT @myheroistrane: T1: Oral health provides a good context to explore social determinants of health and healthcare disparities, too. #meded...

MeegGMD @meggerber8 hours ago

@myheroistrane @Alliance4ClinEd Agree. Also the inclusion of dental health workers might be a learning opportunity especially in settings that serve vulnerable patients. #mededchat ....there is also the integrated clerkship model that could include oral health but I suspect often does not #MedEd

T2: Should we expand oral health curriculum in medical school to better prepare graduates to conduct oral health screenings, provide patient education and preventive oral health services and create effective referrals to dental providers? #mededchat #meded

Alliance4ClinEd @Alliance4ClinEd8 hours ago

T1 #mededchat Great idea. Did it take a lot of convincing to get buy in from others to integrate #oralhealth as it relates to #SDoH @StephRStarr

Paul Haidet @myheroistrane8 hours ago

@sgillmd @Alliance4ClinEd A key issue is faculty development. Not much role modeling of attention given to oral health among current faculty. #mededchat

Sheila @sheila\_scrow5958 8 hours ago

@myheroistrane @sgillmd @Alliance4ClinEd Exactly. How easy is it for the medical and dental faculty to interact? Do they have clinics in close proximity to one another? Are the schools geographically close? These are barriers that seem small but are huge. #mededchat

@MedEdChat Absolutely! But many see this as one more thing to add into an already packed curriculum. #mededchat

Paul Haidet @myheroistrane8 8 hours ago
@MedEdChat One of the problems is that many patients don't have adequate oral health coverage. Example: many folks end up with extraction (which leads to poorer health outcomes) over root canal, because insurance won't pay for the latter. Short term outcomes prioritized. #mededchat

russellmaier @russellmaier38 8 hours ago
@MedEdChat T2 As the mouth is part of the body, we need to teach students how to manage oral health issues just as we teach how to examine the lung, get patients to quit smoking, and refer to pulmonologists for specialty care. Oral Cavity and Lung parity #mededchat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 8 hours ago
@sheila\_scrow595 @MedEdChat This gets back to the fundamental question of how do we truly integrate topics like this into #meded #mededchat

Glenn Laudenslager @ChargeAheadMktg8 8 hours ago
@MedEdChat re: T2 --> Yes! Clinicians in primary care, for example, have opportunities to visually assess oral health during routine checkups. Prevention far less costly than care for dental emergencies. And oral health is connected to overall health. #mededchat #meded

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@russellmaier3 @MedEdChat T2 #mededchat This is the type of easy integration into the #meded curriculum that could happen...and yet it still seems so difficult when you ask instructors to do it. Why is that?

Paul Haidet @myheroistrane8 hours ago

@GLBDallaghan @MedEdChat Yup. Oral and mental health deemphasized in the US #healthcare system. Bad news for the health of our population. #mededchat

Glenn Laudenslager @ChargeAheadMktg8 hours ago

@MedEdChat Every clinician can play a role in oral health, even if it's simply patient education or referrals to dentists. Many medications, for example, may cause dry mouth. Especially in older adults this can quickly exacerbate oral health issues. #mededchat #meded
