Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan 8 hours ago

T1 Before: Review the program. During: Turn off email and also put an out of office response so people know I'm at a conference. #mededchat

Alvin Calderon, MD, PhD, FACP @alvinseattle 8 hours ago

@MedEdChat A1: I act like I really left town to go to the conference. Minimize distraction. Clear my calendar. Plan my meals. Set up my screen(s). #MedEdChat

Jean Bailey, PhD @Jeanmb478 hours ago

@MedEdChat T1 Jean in Richmond Va. Plan ahead--know who you want to connect with. #mededchat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan 8 hours ago

@paladineh T1 That's a nice function....especially if there are multiple sessions you want to see but they conflict. It's a real plus for virtual conferences #MedEdChat

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder 8 hours ago

@MedEdChat #MedEdChat. My most important tips are 1 Block your agenda 2 Put on your email 'out of office'

@Jeanmb47 @MedEdChat T1 So have you taken advantage of "hallway conversation" spaces at conferences like the #AAMCGEA had to connect with people? If so, how was that? #MedEdChat

Sateesh Arja, M.B.B.S., MHPE, MSPH @ArjaSateesh 8 hours ago
@MedEdChat #mededchat T1 virtual conferences have many advantages like saving on travel costs. But I found it difficult to be focused on virtual conferences as we are still engaged in office work comparing to in-person conferences #meded

Catherine Nameth, PhD @namethca 8 hours ago
@MedEdChat Plan ahead, block your schedule. If possible, try to be "at" the virtual conference, just like you would be in person. During the conference, connect with others via social media. Follow up with individuals after the virtual conference. #MedEdChat

Lonika #wearyourmask Sood @sood\_lonika 8 hours ago

Catherine Nameth, PhD @namethca8 hours ago
@GLBDallaghan @Jeanmb47 @MedEdChat The "hallway conversations" are lacking at a virtual conference. How can we still connect meaningfully with other attendees? #MedEdChat

@paladineh @Jeanmb47 @MedEdChat T1 I didn't use them last week. #COMSEP2021 had the capability of arranging meetings for personal zoom rooms to meet colleagues. #MedEdChat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@alvinseattle @paladineh @Jeanmb47 @MedEdChat I did use that function at a conference to meet up with some colleagues. We worked on a project we're undertaking. It was a nice feature #MedEdChat

Jill M Sutton @JillMSutton20008 hours ago

@MedEdChat T1) Familiarize yourself with the platform and the agenda. Choose which sessions you plan to attend live and those you will view asynchronously. Block out your calendar as much as possible to allow yourself to fully engage #MedEdChat

MedEd Chat (hosted by ACE) @MedEdChat8 hours ago

TOPIC 2: What are some of the unforeseen benefits of virtual educational conferences? #meded #mededchat

Alvin Calderon, MD, PhD, FACP @alvinseattle8 hours ago

@MvdRidder @TheCgea @MSUMD Very cool! Although I would still do Step 3, do you know if there is an evidence base for that? #Mededchat

Nagaraj Gabbur @GabburNagaraj8 hours ago

Being able to review recorded material. #MedEdChat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

T2 One of the unforeseen benefits I found was being able to see more sessions due to them being recorded #MedEdChat

Catherine Nameth, PhD @namethca8 hours ago

@MedEdChat Unforeseen benefits of virtual conferences: No travel, the room temperature is always perfect, the coffee is great, the chair is comfortable, and I have no problems seeing & hearing the speaker(s). #MedEdChat

Nagaraj Gabbur @GabburNagaraj8 hours ago

T1 Everyone has a front row seat! #MedEdChat

Marisa Birkmeier @marisabirkmeier8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T2: I find the virtual poster sessions much better than in person. I get overwhelmed in exhibit hall poster sessions. #mededchat

Heather Paladine @paladineh8 hours ago

T2: Lunches with my husband, and (since I'm on the east coast) sessions that often don't start until 10am. #mededchat

Sateesh Arja, M.B.B.S., MHPE, MSPH @ArjaSateesh8 hours ago

@MedEdChat #mededchat T2 recorded sessions are useful. If they make it pay on demand, it is painful. benefits are travel costs and travel time. Some in-person conferences in the past, I had to miss due to other schedules and pre plans. But this can be avoided in virtual conferences #meded

Heather Paladine @paladineh8 hours ago

T2: The best benefit is going to a virtual CME conference with my friend from residency and getting to choose the location #mededchat

Alvin Calderon, MD, PhD, FACP @alvinseattle8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T2: As I've learned from the residents during their virtual noon conferences, there is a lot more discussion DURING the presentations either in the chat or on twitter. You can chat without distracting the presenters. #Mededchat

Jill M Sutton @JillMSutton20008 hours ago

@MedEdChat T2) Stay connected with your family while reconnecting with colleagues and friends #MedEdChat Also no packing or unpacking, flight delays, lost luggage etc

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@marisabirkmeier @MedEdChat T2 So true! I could actually hear the poster presenter speaking to me without having to pull out my horn for them to speak into! It was also nice to be able to review posters at my leisure. #MedEdChat

Jean Bailey, PhD @Jeanmb478 hours ago
T2 attending is easier and less cost prohibitive for most. #MedEdChat

Catherine Nameth, PhD @namethca8 hours ago
@marisabirkmeier @MedEdChat I like the synchronous virtual poster sessions, too. Easier to have a conversation with the presenter. #MedEdChat

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago

#MedEdChat T1. I even glue the little cards in it with an action ooint or topic I have discussed.

Sorry for the alternative way of blurring names and email addresses . <https://t.co/uFBSMMMPR1>

Heather Paladine @paladineh8 hours ago

@alvinseattle @MedEdChat It's true. I went to the #AAFPFMX conference last year and it was great to chat and ask questions of the presenters during their recorded session without interrupting #mededchat

Alvin Calderon, MD, PhD, FACP @alvinseattle8 hours ago

@GLBDallaghan @marisabirkmeier @MedEdChat T2: Agree! I had three simultaneous conversations going with poster people! #Mededchat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@alvinseattle @MedEdChat T2 I agree with this to a point. I have found that the chat during conferences can be very distracting....almost like someone sitting down during a plenary and striking up a loud conversation with everyone around. I've had to shut that off during sessions. #MedEdChat

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago

TOPIC 3: What creative ways have organizers overcome the obstacles of online engagement? #MedEdChat #meded

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago
@GabburNagaraj There are pluses and minuses for sure. One big plus is the accessibility anywhere. @SDRME_MedEd had record attendance last summer with the virtual conference. The con is the spontaneity of networking...which for me is the most important part of a meeting #MedEdChat

Jean Bailey, PhD @Jeanmb478 hours ago
T3 Hallway conversations break out rooms #MedEdChat

Alvin Calderon, MD, PhD, FACP @alvinseattle8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T3: I liked the live Zoom sessions with the speakers after the recorded presentations finished. #MedEdChat

Marisa Birkmeier @marisabirkmeier8 hours ago

@MedEdChat T3: I liked the flipped session design where the asynchronous content was expected to be viewed before a 30 min Q and A with the presenters. #mededchat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

T3 Agree with @Jeanmb47 on this. I think workshop leaders have done exceptionally well with breakout rooms to foster more interactivity #MedEdChat

@GabburNagaraj Good question. Another way of asking: Would we design conferences virtually on purpose and why? In many ways, we had little choice. In the future, we can decide. #MedEdChat

@alvinseattle @GabburNagaraj Do you think some conferences will opt to offer both virtual and in-person? #MedEdChat

John Lowry @DrJohn58858 hours ago
@MedEdChat T3 Virtual poster sessions, interactive sessions with Google docs, creating space for meeting and engaging with others. #mededchat

Catherine Nameth, PhD @namethca8 hours ago

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago
@GabburNagaraj T2. No, I personally don't think so. I miss the ease of networking, randomly meeting people and having a good conversation, and the quiet time to really think through what you have heard. Being out of your natural environment has also a stimulating effect on me #mededchat

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago

@Jeanmb47 T3. Agree. I miss the spontaneous conversation while you are waiting in the cue for food. Never would think I would long for that. #Mededchat

Lonika #wearyourmask Sood @sood_lonika8 hours ago

This is so helpful! #mededchat

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

@GabburNagaraj For larger conferences I can see that. I know @SDRME Meded plans to give virtual/in-person a try since it is so small. I don't see how #AAMCGEA could do that #MedEdChat

Nagaraj Gabbur @GabburNagaraj8 hours ago

It's the randomness of the conference that seems to stimulate people. The unplanned conversations. Online you have to plan to meet #Mededchat

TOPIC 4: How can virtual educational conferences be designed to create a fulfilling experience for everyone? #MedEdChat #meded

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago

@sood_lonika @GLBDallaghan @Jeanmb47 T3. I am applying #padlet now in my online teaching. I am experimenting with recorded powerpoint presentations. #MedEdChat

Sateesh Arja, M.B.B.S., MHPE, MSPH @ArjaSateesh8 hours ago

@MedEdChat #mededchat T3 I have seen some creative ways of doing things like presenting posters online via zoom. And breakout sessions for networking. In my opinion organizers of online conferences have done pretty decent job #meded

Gary Beck Dallaghan @GLBDallaghan8 hours ago

T4 Of all the conferences I've attended over the past year, I would say #COMSEP2021 had the best platform. It made arranging individual meet ups the easiest and was very intuitive. #MedEdChat

Jean Bailey, PhD @Jeanmb478 hours ago

Monica van de Ridder @MvdRidder8 hours ago
@alvinseattle @GabburNagaraj @GLBDallaghan #Mededchat I would definitely miss the real interaction. The real hallway conversations, but also the element of change of environment. I do love the fact that in the virtual conferences, sometimes the choice of simultaneous options is lower. You miss less.

Sateesh Arja, M.B.B.S., MHPE, MSPH @ArjaSateesh8 hours ago
@MedEdChat #mededchat T4 this is again just an opinion. Specific, focused and shorter presentation/topics can give a fulfilling experience to everyone #meded

Dear #AcademicTwitter #MedEdChat #MedEd Are there any resources out there for a physician who doesn't understand stats but she needs to to learn the language & the methodology (maybe also learn SPSS)? Any help is much appreciated! -an aspiring associate professor <https://t.co/4cZklLsK5r>

@alvinseattle @TheCgea @MSUMD #MedEdChat The follow-up is for me a way to: show my organization that their investment was worthwhile, actively process the information I learned, and to give it a place, say goodbye to a good time I had during the conference. The note book = good memories (2/2).
