Quick tips to go from lurking to participating!

1 USE #MedEdChat IN EVERY TWEET
Using #MedEdChat allows your Tweet to be read by all participants. Include a user's Twitter Handle (@) when directly responding to their Tweet.

2 Introduce Yourself
Our #MedEdChat draws different participants each week. Let everyone know your name and where you are from!

3 Share Resources
Share links to articles or other websites that relate to the chat topic. The best part of the chat is obtaining new resources.

4 Join the Conversation
If you are timid about sharing, respond to another participant's comment or ask a clarifying question. These are low stakes ways to break the ice and join the conversation.

5 Drop In for Part or All
The beauty of #MedEdChat is that you can participate for the entire hour or when you can. There is no pressure to respond to every prompt. Contribute what you can!

6 Need Help?
During the chat if you have a question, please direct message @MedEdChat.
